

MedProDirect

Your Incontinence Specialist

Retirement Home Program

As the incontinence supplier to many seniors living in their own home, our retirement program is a natural extension that has been designed to provide your home with value added benefits.

Thirty percent of people over the age of 40 have some type of issue with continence. As Incontinence Specialists we help residents, caregivers and family make informed product choices.

Our Programs for Retirement and Assisted Living Communities provide discreet and easy access to quality products, consultation support and bladder control education.
